

SENATORS IN DEBATE ON LEAGUE COVENANT

Hitchcock Says It Means Compromise of Nations of World and End of Resort to War.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Acceptance of the league of nations covenant as a "great compromise of nations will mean the end of war," and its rejection means that "somewhat old-fashioned idea of America first," were the plea of the two United States senators who participated in a joint discussion of the league before the economic club here tonight.

Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, former chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was the advocate of the covenant in its improved form.

Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin advocated the "America first" idea, opposing the discussion. Senator Hitchcock declared that persons who objected to the present league plan should be placed in the same class with those who believe in no league.

"This league or a return of the old," he declared. "This league or no league at all."

The covenant in its present form, he asserted, was a "great compromise by the fourteen allied nations" who arrived at a decision. All the parties will compromise. Each nation yielded points which it preferred to include.

Senator Hitchcock deplored attempts to make a political issue of the league proposals and declared those who attempted to make political capital of it would find themselves in the position of the man who, after purchasing a horse, was sent to the original draft of the covenant, explaining that he wished to show how well grounded was the reason of the 37 senators who signed the round robin against the original covenant, and adding that a second reason was the fact that "we don't know what the new form will be."

Answering Senator Hitchcock's assertion that it was to accept the covenant unamended or to reject it altogether, Senator Lenroot asserted that "it is peculiar that neutrals can be asked to suggest amendments, but that neither the senate nor the people of the United States have been asked to suggest changes."

It is in favor of the general plan of the league," Senator Lenroot said, "but we must remember that no league of nations can insure against war. So long as selfishness is a part of human nature there will be war."

He must reckon on the probability that in the future there will be nations bent on conquest and that when the time comes that any combination feels strong enough to conquer, another war is probable.

Asserting that he still adhered to the "in some quarters old-fashioned idea of America first," because he believed that under that policy America could be "of the best service to the world," Senator Lenroot cited clauses of the covenant which he maintained were opposed to the "America first" policy.

Tulsa Snappiest Town In World Says Lieut Hornbostel Who Opens Headquarters For Marines Here

"You've got to hit the deck early to be in the swim in Tulsa."

"It's the snappiest proposition in the world, outside of a game of craps."

Thus declared Lieut. H. G. Hornbostel, veteran "leatherneck" who is to assume charge of the newly created marine corps recruiting district of Oklahoma April 1, and who spent yesterday in Tulsa getting quarters and making other arrangements for district headquarters, which is to be located here.

"I've been in Kansas City a year," he said last night before departing, "and I thought it was a busy place. But man alive, this Tulsa town shows more speed than a six-inch gun crew at target practice. I came near being run over by pedestrians and automobiles half a dozen times in an hour this afternoon. Finally I ran down on the quarter deck of the Frisco-Santa Fe platform, and darn it, topknots if some land lubber with a truck of express to town didn't almost fog me amidships. I haven't rested a minute since I've been here. I'll be mighty glad when I go aboard the Pullman. Maybe I can get a few hours' rest."

After a day of walking upstairs and down and riding in elevators, the lieutenant, with the aid of A. C. Thompson and a special committee of commerce, succeeded in making arrangements for district offices at 212-214 S. Main street, near the Model clothing store. The Madansky brothers, lessees of the building, realized the importance of the project in Tulsa and did much to make it possible for the lieutenant to get a location. Tenants in the building also showed the proper spirit by agreeing to move out as soon as they could get other offices.

A. C. Thompson, who was left in charge of arrangements, hopes to have the quarters ready for occupancy when Lieut. Hornbostel returns April 15 with a force of 20 "Devil Dogs" and "Marinettes."

Fifteen thousand recruits are wanted for the marine corps at once and an intensive drive will be opened as soon as the lieutenant returns. All applicants in Oklahoma and portions of Texas will be sent to Tulsa for final examination before going to the big recruit depot at Parris Island, or if they are discharged soldiers they may be given 30-day furloughs on full pay and later transferred to any marine post they express a preference for. Marines are now stationed all over the world and on all big naval vessels.

Dr. Paul R. Brown, 207 S. Main, a Spanish war veteran and recently returned from France where he served as a captain in the national corps, attached to the first division, has been appointed district medical examiner for the marines and all recruits hereafter will have to pass his critical inspection before they can become full-fledged marines.

When the marine recruiting party arrives in Tulsa, local youths will have an opportunity to see and talk to men who have been active service in many campaigns, in China,

San Domingo, Haiti, France and all over the world. Some members of the party, still under 25 years of age, wear three or four campaign badges and many of them have been wounded and decorated in France, one of the very few female marines, officially known as "marinettes," will be a member of the headquarters force. She wears the official marine uniform of wintergreen and can "snap out" a salute and talk the "leatherneck" language like a veteran.

The first step in a systematic publicity campaign that will add further to the fame of the marines, and Tulsa was taken by Lieut. Hornbostel when he mailed dozens of copies of the "Tulsa Spirit," the chamber of commerce official organ, to headquarters at Washington and various prominent officers of the marine corps all over the world.

Soon after April 15 a marine corps club will be organized in the state, with headquarters here. All ex-marines now living in the state will be eligible to membership.

FIVE NOW IN RACE FOR PLACE ON SCHOOL BOARD

All doubt as to whether or not there will be a primary on April 15 to select candidates to be voted upon on the third Tuesday in May for membership on the Tulsa school board was set aside last night when it was announced by W. G. Long, 1435 South Boston avenue, and Dr. M. L. Perry, of 1611 East Second street, that they would file their petitions today.

Candidates who have already filed are Dr. N. W. Maginnis and Dr. J. M. Temples, present members of the board, and George J. McElroy, who is a candidate for the seat now occupied by A. M. Welch, who will not be a candidate for re-election.

MARSHAL WILL ORATE ON TRADE EXCURSION

E. P. Marshall, city attorney, has accepted the invitation of the program committee on the trade excursion trip of the Tulsa Retail Merchants' association and will be the orator of the occasion of the first trip. This trip will occur April 22.

It is the plan of the program committee to select a man of special oratorical ability to make the address on behalf of Tulsa at every town touched on each trip. No selections have yet been made for the remaining three trips.

Dentes Volcanic Eruption.

RIO JANEIRO, April 7.—Reports of a volcanic eruption in the mountain range near Palmeira, Dos Indios, in the region of Pernambuco, with heavy loss of life and great property damage, are denied by Brazilian government authorities and by Dr. Henrique Morize, director of the meteorological observatory of the University of Rio Janeiro.

EMOTIONAL INSANITY IS SLAYER'S DEFENSE

Anna Auster Goes to Trial for Killing Her Husband; Five Children, Two Are With Her.

KENOSHA, Wis., April 7.—"Emotional insanity," according to a statement of her attorney, will be the defense of Mrs. Anna Auster, who went to trial today before Judge E. R. Wisden for the murder of her husband, Harry Auster, one time wealthy real estate dealer of Chicago and Kenosha. Mrs. Auster pleaded not guilty.

Attorney Baker, representing Mrs. Auster, announced that a number of witnesses would be called from Canada to testify that Mrs. Auster once turned on the gas in an attempt to kill herself and five children while suffering from an "emotional spell."

Mrs. Auster's five children, ranging from five to 15 years, accompanied their mother to court today. With a special venire of 26 jurors present, it was expected a jury would be selected before the court adjourned today. District Attorney Fisher stated the prosecution probably would require three days to complete its case.

SELLING OF REAL ESTATE BY GERMANS PROHIBITED

By The Associated Press.
COBLENZ, Sunday, April 6.—An order of the inter-allied armistice commission prohibiting the sale of real estate belonging to the German government or local governments in the French, British or American areas of occupation has been received by the American third army.

The order presents the transfer of government property to private owners and is believed to have been prompted by reports that such a thing might be done with a view to diminishing the value of the security held by the allies for the payment of indemnities and charges for the maintenance of the armies of occupation.

BOY SCOUTS PLANNING A BIG PEACE CELEBRATION

Boy Scouts throughout the country will celebrate the signing of peace by appropriate ceremonies and the burning of enormous bonfires on the day the treaty is signed. The bonfire is to symbolize the cleansing of the nations from war and the light of new hope resulting from the great victory over autocracy.

The plans of the local scout officials are to arrange a program which will be fitting for the purpose. A committee has been appointed under the local council to arrange the details for the celebration, assisted Scout Executive John Lindly.

Other organizations will be asked to be represented in the ceremonies, including the Y. M. C. A., Red Cross and the Knights of Columbus and other organizations connected with the war activities.

At the meeting of the scout council, which will be held the latter part of the week, a cheer and song leader will be appointed who will put pep into the program and arouse enthusiastic response from the troops.

The celebration will be one to be remembered by scouts and all who participate.

WARREN PERSHING SAILS WITH BAKER

Son of American Commander Starts With War Department for France—To See His Father.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Secretary of War Baker, Hugh C. Wallace of Tacoma, Wash., new United States ambassador to France, 15 members of the house military affairs committee, and Warren Pershing, the 3-year-old son of General Pershing, were passengers aboard the steamship Leviathan which sailed from here at noon today for France.

Whistles blew and guns saluted as the Leviathan passed down the harbor.

Secretary Baker is going abroad to attend meetings of the allied military commission in Paris and Tours for settling payments between England, France and the United States for war material. He will be in France only a week or ten days.

The congressional delegation abroad was headed by former Chairman J. H. Dorn of Alabama and was accompanied by representatives of the general staff of the United States army.

Representative Julius Kahn of California, chairman of the committee, is already in France.

Mr. Dorn said the representatives would make an inspection tour of American camps and military bases in France and the occupied areas. They will also investigate, he said, the military mail service, reorganization of American soldiers' graves, the school system now in operation, by the American expeditionary forces and the records of the various divisions participating in the important engagements of the war.

Goes on Mission.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Major Gen. William J. Snow, chief of field artillery, has been detailed by the war department for a special mission to France, England and Italy to study the latest developments in military organizations with a view of adapting it to the peace military establishments in this country. General Snow will be accompanied only by his aide, Capt. Charles S. Blakeley.

Something More About— "My Tailor"

"Yesterday I spoke of my ambition, and told of a few plans that I had in mind in serving the men and young men of Tulsa with their apparel needs.

"Today I want to talk about service. The moment a man enters my establishment he will be impressed with the manner in which he is greeted.

"He will not be rushed through a series of unnecessary talks but will be given the opportunity of selecting a pattern from among the largest list of high grade woollens ever shown in Tulsa.

"If pleased with the showing and price, he is then carefully measured, even to the most minute detail.

"It is then left to the customer as to what style he desires. But, if this item is left to us we assure him of the latest in proper fashions.

"We will then talk about linings, trimming, buttons and buttonholes; in fact we will not use snap judgment, but have everything arranged before we start.

"And the most important of all—I'll have the suit finished on time. When I say that the garments will be ready at a certain time—bet all the money in the world that it will be READY.

—So Much for Service

"Only the finest of high-grade woollens will be carried in stock. These woollens will have our personal guarantee for fast colors and wear, and we stand ready to make them good at any time. The workmanship, too, will be superb; the best that real tailors can put into your clothes.

—So Much for Quality

"My designing department will carry out faithfully and reliably the particular style desired. Clothes full of snap and vim—real English clothes for the fellow that wants fire—and if a conservative model is wanted, that, too, will be reproduced perfectly.

—So Much for Style

"Prices here will be very conservative. I mean by that statement, that no matter the price you pay, I'll warrant that you cannot duplicate the same suit anywhere else in the southwest at the price.

—So Much for Economy

"My location is in the very thick of things. I'll be ready to tell you my address in a day or two.

"Just wait—you'll be glad you waited. Say, say again, and keep on saying—
